The bottom section provides Chem-Pruf accounting with payment options. If you are a recent or existing customer indicate your account number. If this is your first order you may have the cost of the door charged to your Visa or MasterCard to expedite the order. A credit check requirement for an open account could delay your order up to 10 days. After determining payment options a written purchase order and a signature on this form will cause your door order to be processed.

The last section provides our crating department with information to be placed on the shipping carton to ensure the door arrives at the correct destination with the appropriate contact names and phone numbers.

As you can see the required information on the form is minimal but each section is very important. Any omissions or oversights will cause unnecessary delays in implementing your order and consequently receipt of your door. So take a minute and fill this out clearly and completely to ensure your door arrives within the specified time.
